FARMVILLE.

The Cobb--Gills marriage means that another Farmville girl, after marriage continues to be a resident of our town and this a just as we would have it in all cases. We can not afford to loose our girls, for they are literally and truly "none such" and there are none to take their places. Old wine is best wine and old friends are best friends. Shakespeare well said that we should bind them to ourselves with "hooks of steel." The breaking up of family circles is one of the sad things of earth. There are those to whom we would never say "good bye."

Most of our new homes are now furnished and my hope is that they are abodes of sweet content. I know none just like them in all Virginia.

Our warehouse men look happy and our merchants are regular callers at our warehouses. "Come and see us after the sales," is the refrain of these November days.

Some of our stores are beginning to put on Christmas features, and 'Charley' Chappel's eyes are already brightening. He can stand on his feet eighteen hours out of the twenty-four during the holidays and not complain of being tired.

Hunt, our artist, is always busy, and being an enthusiast in his profession, is always learning. "The proper study of mankind is man" and the "human face divine" never loses interest. What a comfort to have it with us after death has robbed us of the loved one.

Now that our worthy fellow citizen, Mr. W. H. Richardson, is blind his sense of hearing is so acute that he can almost recognize his friends by their footfall. He never mistakes a voice,

Mr. H. A. Stokes, who lives some five miles from town, is president of the Planters' Bank and is generally the first one at the weekly meetings of the directors. It is said that he is perhaps the most successful farmer in our county, having accumulated a large fortune by cultivating the soil.

Our people will not appreciate that the 1906 Congressional campaign is over, for we have had none. It is a bad habit, however, not to take part in politics. We are the people and should make ourselves heard. Alas, how far is this from being true. Once located in Washington and our agents all become masters while whips in their hands.

The chill of winter is being felt by many of our people, especially by those who prefer beer to wood "to burn." Still the deserving poor are always with us.

Miss Susie McKinney will spend the winter with her cousin, Mrs. Graham Robertson, of Tazewell. Her sister, Miss Rochette, will spend the winter with friends in Atlanta.

Our Methodists gave up their former pastor, Rev. Mr. Winn, most reluctantly, and now nothing would endure them to part with Rev. Mr. Hatcher, who is a cultivated, consecrated Christian gentleman.

"Did you ever enjoy the sunshine quite so much?" has been often heard with us of late, and really it seems to be clothed in new beauty and robed in new splendor, coming as it does, after an unprecedented rainfall.

The profession of law is not so profitable as it was in years gone by, while that of medicine is evidently much so. I recall the days of Drs. Lyle, Spencer a d others and their offices, apparatus, modes of travel &c. were in striking contrast to the modern day variety. Our preachers are also better off than I ever knew them. They live in better homes, are better fed and clothed and certainly so far as Farmville is concerned, preach in much better churches. No good can come to them that all good men will not rejoice in.

Home made sausage is scarce, but is simply "left" and this is as true of communities as it is of citizens.

Our fresh meat merchants have a hard time of it the year round. In the summertime it is strenuous work to keep the meats fresh, and in the winter time they are forced to work in cold business places.

Our merchants who deal in fruits are among the most enterprising I know of. They are always well-stocked, and that too notwithstanding we have the market-made galore.

The merchants of Farmville are appreciating more and more the value of printer's ink as the columns of the Herald testify week by week. A well advertised town is always a live and progressive town.

Keep an eye on the cities and towns which will be found represented at Jamestown and each will spell progress with a P like that. The individual who stands still in this day be fact that they are sometimes heavy losers by reason of decayed fruit, few people realize as they should that merchants of all men are always trying to please the purchasers. The farmer who lives in the open air and out in the bright sunshine ought to be the happy mortal above all others.

Tobacco comes rolling into our market and this is the time to deliver it when the roads are good and the busy season is on.

Our Normal girls are often put to the "test," but they are earnest workers and stand it well. And how they do enjoy this rich, November sunshine, which was due in October. They look as fine to sweep to market to feel them, but he does it and does it well. Eggs only now and then and oysters occasionally.

Our milk sellers have gone up to cents a quart, and have been driven to it, as they say, by the price of mill feed. The strange part of it is that wheat is cheap and mill feed so high. Would'nt the cows do well on hulled wheat?

I understand that one reasons at work at the Jamestown Exposition grounds, get seven dollars a day, and they can afford to pay more for eggs and milk and chick ens and such, but I do feel a tender sympathy for the editors who still sell their papers at one dollar for a whole year.

You make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Lingering Cold.

Withstood other treatment but quickly relieved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"Last winter I caught a very severe cold which lingered for weeks," says J. Urquhart, of Zephyr, Ontario. "My cough was very deep and hacking. The local dealer recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and guaranteed it, so I gave it a trial. One small bottle of it cured me. I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have ever used."

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up often during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. From CHRONIC INDIGESTION.

Huntington, W. Va., Oct. 2, 1905.

Prof. O. Perry Smith, Dear Sir:—Your Oxydonor has done me more good than any thing I have ever taken for my case of indigestion of twelve to fifteen years' standing by the use of two months, or less, and by my physician that nothing could do me any relief, and I think I have left for me. I will say that I was down to 121 pounds when I got Oxydonor two or three months, and strong, and am enjoying abundant health at this time.

At the next meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society on the evening of the 1st day of December at the Library building, there will be a sale of fancy articles, also cake and candy, by the ladies, the proceeds of which sale to go on the Parsonage fund. We hope the public generally will help in this good cause.

I had the pleasure of attending a meeting of the Ladies' Social Club several days ago, and found it very pleasant, as well as instructive. It is a club reorganized by the ladies for the winter and adds greatly to the improvement as well as the sociability of the little town. There were present Mesdames Pease, Garnett, Province, Fawcett, Hull, Nowlin and Miss Fannie Moseley. At the next meeting Shakespeare will be the subject of reading and discussion.

Thompson - Woodson.

A quiet marriage of great interest to the large circle of friends of both contracting parties took place in the parsonage of the Mount Vernon Methodist Episcopal church Washington, D. C., Nov. 14 1906, when Miss Willie T. Woodson became the bride of Mr. Ivanhoe Thompson, both of this city.

After the ceremony the bridal party was driven to the lovely home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. T. B. Robertson, 301 Indiana Ave., N. W. where they partook of the wedding breakfast, an exquisite menu, very elegantly served. The predominant colors in the dining room, hall and parlors were white and green.

Immediately following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left on a Pennsylvania R. R. train for an extended northern tour.

Mrs. Thompson is going away gown was tailor-made in blue English suiting, with hat trimmed to match.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. T. L. Woodson, of No. 112 Randolph St., and is a very charming and attractive young lady.

The groom is one of Richmond's most prosperous business men.

They will be at home in Richmond after Nov. 25th.

The contracting parties were well known in Buckingham.

INTERESTING STORIES ABOUT HOME FOLKS.

Our Correspondents Relate the News of the County.

Southside.

This has seemed to be such a short year and it is hard to realize that in just six weeks Xmas, will be here again. Only a little while back the March winds were whistling through the leafless branches of the trees, the ground covered with snow, and all nature locked in winter's icy embrace. The lovely months of Spring and smother "good old summertime" with its joys and sorrows has just flown away and the autumn leaves ,brown and sear' are scattered far and wide. To many this has been an eventful year and many changes—some joyful and some sad have taken place.

The news of the death of our loved friend and physician, Dr. Julian Abbitt, was a great shock to the people of this community and everywhere one hears: "What shall we do without him?" We extend our sympathy to each of the bereaved family.

The sound of the wedding bells is heard all around us and rumor has it that the old Southside will furnish her quota of pretty brides ere the new year dawns.

Farmers are taking advantage of this pretty weather and are busy seeding wheat, getting in corn and in many ways getting things in shape for the winter. There is great scarcity of wild grapes, persimmons and acorns, so we trust the coming winter will be a mild one.

Mrs. R. N. Woolridge, who has been sick, is better.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Coleman, who have both been sick, are better.

Elva, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Abbitt, who has been very ill with fever, is getting better.

Mrs. Geo. Rush and Mr. Joe Rush of Buckingham visited Mrs. Rush's sister, Mrs. T. A. Coleman last week.

Messrs. J. W., Geo. T. and W. Luther Coleman were the guests of their parents here Sunday.

Mr. Robert Odor, of Bluefield visited relatives here recently. He will have a nice dwelling house erected on his farm near Reed's Springs before Xmas. to be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Odor.

The workmen are rushing the work on Mr. T. A. Coleman's new house. They expect to move in by December 1st.

Mr. J. T. Cole has added a new dining and cook room to his house.

Misses Bernice and Landon Cole, two of our most charming girls are visiting in Halifax. They are expected home soon.

Mr. Hubbard Coleman was in Lynchburg with tobacco last week.

Capt. Alex. Swan, for many years our efficient county surveyor, was surveying the line between the lands of Mr. Small and Mr. George W. Coleman last Saturday.

Mrs. Martha Walton was the guest of Mrs. J. T. Cawthorn recently.

Some of our young people will attend the marriage of Miss Ella Cawthorn, which will take place Wednesday. Congratulations and best wishes for a long life of happiness.

Orson Taylor, son of Mr. Ben Giles; who has been so ill with diptheria, is well again.

[This reached us too late for last week's paper.—Ed.]

Billiousness and Constipation

For years I was troubled with billiousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me. I lost my usual force and vitality. Repeat preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The Tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, helping the system to do its work normally.—Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala.

Sweet Carline Again

Dear Mr. Editor:—Your correspondent went to church on Sunday, although we had not been to the pawn shop for our eton and had to meet our friends with a sunny smile and pretend we did not feel the chilly breeze around our unprotected elbows. I listened to a sermon in which the preacher told us to make unto ourselves friends of the unholy mammon. Now if that man only knew how hard I had tried to clasp to my heart the silver queen and had stretched forth our hands in the mad, wild, effort to capture the golden eagle. I have even smiled with alluring sweetness at the goddess of liberty on the every day nickle, look with loving eyes at the despised penny, and yet that unholy mammon passed me with cold disdane. What was my anguish unto her she did not pause in her glad, mad flight to note my good look. She never once thought of the love I could give her but went forward hastily to join the millions of unrighteous mammon that already filled the pockets of John D. Rockefeller. But when that man told us to make friends of the unholy mamon he did'nt tell us to make it our God, to so worship at its shrine that this love would soon crowd out all nobler, better feelings. To make the love of gold our one thought, let it so blind our sight that no matter what a person's origin may be, or how despicable their nature, we must look up to them, greet how with servile humility to their opinions, must look up to them in every way because their crop or rent roll may bring them a measly thousand per year. The unholy mammon possesse such an attraction for them that if they are marrying men or women they must look to our real estate or bank account before they can pronounce the ere monoable. I let the woman wear false teeth, false hair and have to chalk to beat the band, or the man be deaf, bald and bow-legged, if they possess the unholy mammon that is all that is required. There are some that will smirk and bow to this walking bank certificate. Yet our preacher on Sunday did not mean that he did'nt try to teach us selfishness or greed, he only meant for us to do good with the ill gotten gain. But O, dear, Mr. Editor, why does she flee so persistently from us? Why, oh why must I seek her so in vain? Why don't Uncle Sam fix his money machine so as to grind us out sufficient coin, for us all to meet this unholy mammon on the most friendly terms. I have been talking this over with Lucinda and she says you ought to know if anyone does.

T. E. Staples Killed.

On last Sunday morning, Nov. 17 Concord was shocked over the scene of the instant and horrible death of one of our most faithful abiding friends, Mr. T. E. Staples, acting night pumper for the N & W Ry. Mr. Staples left Concord about 11 o'clock Saturday night for his place of business one-half mile north-west of Concord, 'and that was the last trace of him, as he left about that hour after a short conversation with Messrs. W. H. Steele and G. M. Cross, who probably were the last to converse with him before his departing hour. No later knowledge of his actions are accounted for until his sister, Miss Addie Staples, and a little nephew, Master Bruce Staples, the next morning about 10:30 o'clock started on their way to take him his morning meal and upon entering the pump house found both doors open, where she viewed the awful catastrophe of her dead brother lying in a mass of blood. The pump was still running and the tank overflowing with water, strange to note Master Bruce Staples had the presence of mind under such circumstances to immediately shut the pump off and stop it. From all appearances he had been dead several hours and it is widely supposed and extremely probable that he came to his death at an early hour in the morning by trying to start the pump, and during his efforts his clothing were caught in the 'clutch nut,' winding them around him, thence throwing him forward on the 'master wheel' which instantly dashed him against the house, inflicting many cuts and harsh bruises on the scalp just over the forehead about two inches in length, one in the temple of left side, a large bruise over the right eye and severing his right arm from the body at shoulder and breaking it between hand and elbow.

Mr. Staples was born Sept. 26th 1846 and has resided at Concord during the best part of his life. He was widely known by all as a man of exceptional good qualities, and always ready to lend his helping hand to the needy His sister, Misses Lucy and Addie are both burdened with grief over the loss of this devoted brother, and speak well of his spiritual condition in his latter days, offering a joyful consolation to be contented in happiness, to think that his death, though a horrible one, puts him in a higher kingdom to enjoy a life of perpetual happiness around God's white throne.

His brother Mr. R. A. Staples wishes to extend his most hearty thanks to those who attended his household in his hour of trouble, and the gratitude shall be ever paid in brotherly love.

He was quietly laid to rest at the family burying ground at 4 o'clock Monday evening. Messrs. W. H. Steele, T. H. Steele, W. T. Cross and Miss Chassie Brooks, served them during his last night.

The attendance at the grave by his old comrades, and the sorrow apparent to all present, told the mute story of a well rounded life, spent among an appreciative people, who now mourn a great loss. Ned Staples had no enemies. His memory will be cherished and the community at large regrets his death.

Mrs. R. A. Staple's mother Mrs. Walton arrived Monday evening and is now visiting the family.

A Methodist Minister Recommends Chamberlain's Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

We have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our home for seven years, and it has always proved to be a reliable remedy. We have found that it would do more than it recommends for croup. It is especially good for croup and whooping cough.
